Daugherty Quits As MSU Coach

He Will Finish Season

Only 'Pressure' Coming From Ex-Supporters

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Duffy Daugherty, head football coach at Michigan State University for the past 19 years and a Michigan sports legend, has resigned effective the end of the season.

The rotund, genial pixie, long a favorite of players, fans and newsmen alike, called it quits after several seasons of declining fortunes and unrest among his former supporters. The Spartans were 2-4-1 so far this season.

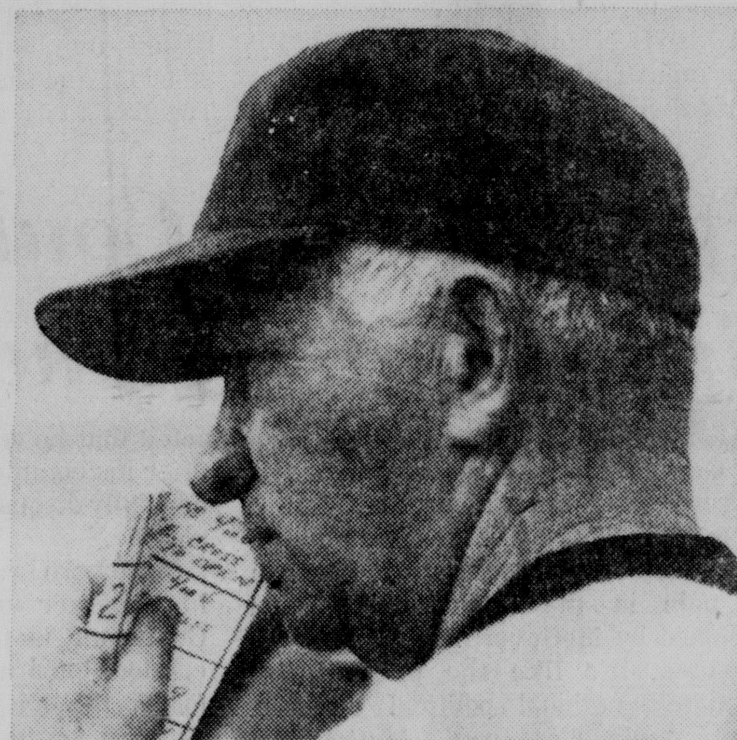

Daugherty confirmed his resignation, originally to be announced following State's game with Purdue today, after a Lansing radio station broke the story Friday evening by quoting high university officials.

A MSU spokesman said no successor had been found and no one was under special consideration, while Daugherty, sporting a 104-64-4 record, said he would stay on with the university, although not in an athletic department role.

"I feel that Michigan State deserves better than it has been getting," Daugherty told newsmen attending his weekly session prior to home games. "I haven't been making it fun for the players lately."

"I told the boys that I didn't want them to go out and win one for old Duffy. I told the players that football should be fun, especially on Saturday. I told them 'I wanted you to have fun in practice. I'm sick and tired of yelling at you.'"

"My decision to resign is irrevocable. I told the squad (See back page, sec. 1, col. 7)

Blame Fruit Market, Landfill For Pests

Benton Men Turn 'Killers'

Barney Hess and Loyd Hicks are neighboring Benton township small businessmen with an unenviable sideline — killing rats.

They say they've knocked off scores of rats recently that they believe originate at the nearby Benton Harbor fruit market and Northwest Berrien County Sanitary landfill. Rats are looking for warm spots to hide from upcoming winter chill, they believe.

Hess, of 655 North Crystal avenue and owner of Barney's Bait & Tackle shop a few yards away at 1716 Red Arrow highway, Friday displayed a young rat caught in a cheese-baited trap on his enclosed front porch.

It was the fourth in six days, all in the same spot, he said.

It's just a baby compared to the largest among some 50 to 60 that Hicks estimates he's trapped in the past four months around his home and barber shop at 1750 Red Arrow highway.

"Some of them I've got would make that look sick," he said of Hess' new capture. "Big around as my arm. Never saw rats so big."

Hicks has whipped up his own rat poison, horse feed laced with Drano, a commercial drain cleaner, and keeps an air rifle handy to pot rats on the run.

Defense Rests Case

Purnell Narrates Uland Slaying

BY ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

The defense rested its case Friday in the murder trial of David Jordan Purnell after completion of testimony by the defendant in a tension-filled Berrien circuit courtroom.

"Non Partisan Harmony" tonite 8 p.m. St. Joseph High School 24th annual Barber Shop Show. Adv.

Unlike Purnell's first appearance on the stand, when the defendant appeared relatively calm in answering his attorney's questions, he visibly shook and cried at times and held his head in his hands and testified how he had killed Janet Uland.

Purnell, 25, was very tense Friday and could be heard breathing harder than normal. Several times he appeared to go into a trance-like state, answering questions as if he were King Ben, his great-grandfather.

The tension in the courtroom was so great, that at one point during his testimony Prosecutor Taylor asked for a short recess, but Defense Counsel S. Jack Keller, objected because "Even I don't want to go through this again." Judge William S. White ruled in favor of the defense and the testimony continued.

Sitting in a chair in the middle of the courtroom in front of the jury, with his attorney seated directly in front of him, Purnell recalled what happened the night Miss Uland was killed and the previous two days.

At the start of his testimony Friday, Purnell identified the cover of the book "King of the Harem Heaven" and the jury was allowed to examine it after it had been admitted into

Tricky SJ Proposal Merits A 'Yes' Vote

Every election, it seems, the people who write propositions for the ballot manage to come up with at least one back-handed description of the issue to be decided. This year, the honor of having the tricky proposition belongs to the City of St. Joseph. It's one of those deals where you have to vote "Yes" when you mean "No."

St. Joseph electors will vote Tuesday on this proposal:

"Shall the zoning ordinance and map of the City of St. Joseph, Michigan, be amended to change the following lots: U.S.-81-1; U.S.-81-2; U.S.-81-3; and U.S.-81-4, under option to Ben N. Teitel, from 'C-1' Multiple Dwelling District to 'F' Light Industrial District?"

If an elector opposes construction of apartments on the property, he has to vote "Yes." This despite the fact that the issue was forced onto the ballot by citizens opposed to the apartment construction project.

The property described in the petition, about four acres on Lakeshore Drive near the Heath plant, was zoned "F" Light Industrial until Aug. 14, 1972. At that time, despite citizen protest, the St. Joseph City Commission, rezoned the property to "C-A" Multiple Dwelling so that a South Haven developer, Ben Teitel, could erect a 116 small apartments on the site.

Led by former St. Joseph mayor Tom Sparks, a group of St. Joseph residents immediately filed a petition demanding an election to restore the property to "F" Light Industrial. Since their petitions complied with law, the City Commission

After All, He Couldn't Have Said 'Elephant'

We can't find it in our hearts to criticize Sen. George McGovern for whispering "Kiss my ass," to an airport heckler at Battle Creek Thursday. It was a quietly-spoken rebuke to a breed of cat that is a real pain in the anatomical portion mentioned by McGovern.

Besides, it's like the presidential candidate's national political director, Frank Mankiewicz, said. McGovern's remark was rather natural for a Democratic nominee. "After all," said Mankiewicz, "he can't say kiss my elephant."

McGovern drew guffaws later when he

Icecap Receding

The melting ice cap surrounding the North Pole is receiving increasing attention for signs of its effect on weather systems in other parts of the world. The reason for the change is not known, although increased volcanic activity in the Philippines has been offered as one theory.

Col. Bernt Balchen, an explorer and retired U.S. Air Force officer, says recent flights he has made over Labrador, Greenland, Norway, the Canadian Arctic and the polar sea have convinced him the polar cap is melting, perhaps faster than expected.

"We may have an open ocean in another 20 years," Col. Balchen said, "or in no more than 40 years."

Aside from its effects on weather phenomenon, the disappearance of the North polar cap would have important implications for shipping. Water transport of mineral deposits from the Far North would be possible for the first time, and oil tankers would be able to serve the Canadian and Alaskan oil fields.

Lincoln township trustees will caucus and then determine if they will meet with representatives of St. Joseph township on the complex problem of dividing water system costs.

Representatives of the two townships met last night to discuss the report written by a Michigan Civil engineering professor, Dr. Robert F. McCauley. HE DOESN'T LIKE ANY OF THEM
Editor,

I would agree with the letter by Thomas Boylan. Why do we have to have syndicated columns by Hart, Means, and Biosatt? They all say the same thing — it's like little Echo, Sir Echo, and Mama Echo. In the interest of freedom of expression and freedom of the press why not have a column by some good liberal as some newspapers do — or if that's "impossible" why not some more comic strips or another Family Weekly that we waited so long for only to find it full of nothing but advertisements.

Convict Prevents Pig Theft

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Good guys are where you find them — such as at Southern Michigan prison's trusty farm here.

State officials revealed Friday an inmate was attacked by two young men this week when he prevented the theft of several small pigs from the trusty farm.

The youths were surprised by the man, Clayton Weitzel, during the nighttime incident and they threw a pitchfork at him, officials said.

Warden Charles Egeler said that Weitzel was slightly injured and was treated by a prison staff nurse. He said the two men, however, escaped, but without the pigs.

Doctor Tells How
PW Wives Suffer

WASHINGTON (NEA) — We as a people have not done nearly enough to ease the terrible plight of the wives of the military men and civilians who are prisoners or missing in North Vietnam and elsewhere in Southeast Asia.

We read almost daily of their earnest attempts to secure mail from their husbands, to receive some word of prison conditions or to learn whether in fact their mates are living or dead.

But talk to medical men about the dreary, worried frustrating lives these women lead while they wait.

Doctors who have studied the problem report that even the most stable and mature such wife experiences severe emotional problems:

— She must make daily decisions on her own, but constantly has the feeling she will be held accountable to her husband, when he is released, for whatever happens to the children. Yet the absence of the man in the family almost inevitably has a deleterious effect on their youngsters. The doctors say both boys and girls require a father for satisfactory progress through stages of development.

— She has a continuous struggle with her self-esteem. Yet there are few acceptable ways for her to build up her own confidence.

— She suffers from boredom, with the same routine day in and day out and no end in sight. A woman alone is awkward socially at best, and almost any satisfactory social activity may burden her with a sense of guilt. (She is having a good time while her husband is going through hell in prison.)

— If her husband is missing in action, she is in even a rougher prison of her own. She has all the problems of a POW wife intensified by uncertainty over her loved-one's fate. She keeps harassing herself with these questions: Is her husband alive or dead? Will he ever return? Even if she is certain he is dead, there is considerable public pressure against her remarrying. There is always the chance, too, that if she does remarry, her missing husband may eventually turn up alive. These two pressures can destroy the chances that her remarriage will be successful. Yet she knows she is aging and lonely and cannot wait in this limbo for too long.

What is worst of all, perhaps, for the wife of a prisoner of war, is what is likely to happen emotionally when her husband does come home, the doctors say. Because of her worries and the impossible problems she now faces, she is likely to build up a sort of idealized dream about what life will be like when the family can all be together.

She may tend to believe all her difficulties will be resolved and that "everything will be perfect." Doctors say the life after reunion won't be perfect of course, human beings being human, and they worry that the reality (as contrasted with her dreams) will likely result in a tremendous emotional letdown.

The Elitism
Of Intellectuals

Now and then you come upon a sentence or a phrase that causes a twinge of recognition, that crystallizes a half-formed perception. I happened to be shuffling through Philip Rahv's periodical, Modern Occasions (Spring, 1972), and my eye stopped at a remark in an interview with Elizabeth Hardwick, a prominent critic.

"But I have my doubts," observed Miss Hardwick, "that consumerism can and will abate voluntarily to any meaningful degree in our society."

It is the sort of statement that seems innocuous enough, but then produces a sort of intellectual doubletake. Miss Hardwick is the wife of poet Robert Lowell and a well-known writer in her own right. She is a frequent contributor to the New York Review of Books and is very much in harmony with fashionable feeling in an important segment of American intellectuals. Needless to say, she is for Sen. George McGovern. And she views the American "consumer," with his motorboat and his color TV and his house in the suburbs as more than slightly vulgar.

And yes, you see, she "doubts" that consumerism will abate "voluntarily" in our society.

She left the next step unstated. But if consumerism — that is, enjoying the material products of American society — is vulgar, nay, immoral and intolerable, must not consumerism "abate," well, "involuntarily?"

Miss Hardwick touched here, I think, upon a powerful if unavowed current of feeling among intellectuals. In important ways, they are puritans. They dislike "consumption" and they displace the pleasures of the ordinary citizen.

They therefore desire to expand greatly what John Kenneth Galbraith — a representative if urbane specimen — calls the Public Sector, which is virtuous, at the expense of the Private Sector, where all those "consumers" are wallowing in self-indulgence and sin. They much prefer the publicly owned BBC, with its Ibsen plays, bird-calls and lessons in Hungarian to commercial TV with gross spectacles involving the New York Giants or the Dallas Cowboys, interspersed with beer ads.

And though these puritans doubtless perceive public expenditure as good in its own right, one senses that they also perceive it as a salutary discipline for the herd. They like it because it does remove cash from the pocket of the despised and vulgar "consumer" sunk in his frightful suburb.

George McGovern's income redistribution schemes thus had a sort of moral charm for the elitist puritan. The point was not so much that they were, allegedly, designed to aid the poor — but that they would punish the middle class. Consumerism would, be involuntarily abated.

The vein of contempt runs very deep. And I think that ordinary people sense it in Sen. McGovern and the people around him. There lingers in my mind another offhand remark. When McGovern sacked Tom Eagleton over the mental illness business, I recall one McGovern aide explaining that the Boss had been obliged to do so "because most of the American people still believe in witchcraft."

Traverse City's Gilmore Catches Tigers Off Balance

BY JIM DeLAND
Sports Editor

TRAVERSE CITY — Benton Harbor's football team was caught off balance by the running of Craig Gilmore here Friday night.

Operating behind an unbalanced line, the senior speedster ran wild for 242 yards in just 14 carries to provide Traverse City with a 35-24 victory over the Tigers in a surprising scoring spectacular at Thirby Field.

A bulk of Gilmore's yards came on three plays — touchdown runs of 71 and 69 yards and a 55-yard scamper that set up another score — and it was those three plays that broke the Tigers' back.

"We just couldn't stop the big plays," Benton Harbor coach Irv Sigler said succinctly. "We knew they were going to run that unbalanced line against us...they've been running it against Benton Harbor for 10 years."

"We practiced it, and we had people there...but we just couldn't stop it."

Bob Quick, the Trojans' other running back, got 87 yards and three more touchdowns in 15 carries and each of the two caught a conversion pass from quarterback Rory Brinkerhoff to account for all but one of Traverse City's points.

This was simply too much for the Tigers to handle despite a classy performance by the passing combination of quarterback Dave Popke and end Ceroy Reynolds that helped give Benton Harbor 16-15.

Popke, a 5-11 junior who was brutalized for five interceptions by the Trojans last year, completed 6 of 13 passes for 156 yards, two touchdowns and a two-point conversion without having one pass picked off.

Five of his six completions went to Reynolds, who gained 146 yards, scored a touchdown and conversion and came within one step of getting another TD.

"I think it was our best offensive game," Sigler said. "Don't forget, they held Muskegon to eight points and five first downs last week."

With fullback Bob Edelberg adding 89 yards rushing in 22 carries and halfback Lenny Thompson running for a touchdown and PAT, the Tigers actually ran off 60 plays to only 44 for Traverse City, but that was more than enough for the Trojans.

They took a 15-0 lead in the first half on a 12-yard run by Quick and a 71-yard romp by Gilmore, a 5-9, 160-pound senior.

Reynolds got the Tigers on the board by taking a slant pass over the middle and dashing 55 yards to score and Thompson put Benton Harbor ahead by scooting 16 yards on a pitchout off the triple option with just 22 seconds left in the first half.

Gilmore turned the third quarter into disaster for the Tigers by breaking loose twice on the same play.

With the Trojans lined up in an unbalanced line to the right, the speedy right halfback slanted through the left side and then cut back against the grain to dash down the right sideline.

On both occasions, it appeared the Tigers had failed to shift their defense to compensate for the unbalanced line and actually had too many players on the side Gilmore ran...and not enough to cover up when he cut back.

The first time he went 69 yards for a touchdown and the second time was hauled down at the BH 13, setting the stage for an eventual one-yard plunge by Quick, who also added the last TD on a five-yard run that followed a 31-yard pass from Brinkerhoff to Joe Wambold.

Reynolds came close to breaking loose again on a screen pass from Popke, but was tripped up at the TC 13 after a 50-yard gain and the Tigers were forced to give up the ball on downs.

Ron Coffey got it back by recovering a Trojan fumble on the 25-yard line, however, and then caught a 10-yard screen pass from Popke for the final touchdown of the game.

For the first time this season, Benton Harbor did not turn over the ball on a fumble or pass interception, and the Tigers' play execution in the second quarter was virtually perfect.

Despite this effort, the Tigers are left with a 1-6 record to take into their season finale against Grand Haven next Friday at Filstrup Field.

In Lake Michigan Athletic Conference play the Tigers remain winless at 0-4 while Traverse City is 4-1 and can share in the conference championship if Muskegon beats Muskegon Catholic next week.

DEFENSE STRIKES IT RICH

St. Joe Blanks Dutch

By JOHN VANDEN HEEDÉ
Staff Sports Writer

A shuffled St. Joseph defense paced the Bears to a "rags to riches" 13-0 homecoming victory over Holland Friday night at Dickinson Stadium.

The St. Joe defense, which had allowed almost 22 points per game entering the contest, held Holland without a first down in the first half and came up with three pass interceptions.

Fullback Doug Lincoln carried the offensive load on the muddy field with both Bear touchdowns while gaining 127 yards in 27 carries.

"That feels good," commented Bear coach Ike Muhlenkamp after watching his team end a three-game losing streak with its second triumph of the season. "I was pleased with the whole defense and I thought the offense did a great job in the mud. We hit tonight."

St. Joe's other win was a 24-0

St. Joe got its other TD by taking the second half kick off and marching 54 yards in seven plays. Lincoln ran for one first down and halfback Mike Ryan another before Lincoln burst 37 yards up the middle for the touchdown. Priebe, who had his string of successful PAT kicks end at eight straight after the first TD, made the boot good the second time for the game's final point.

Holland's only threat came after St. Joe fumbled the ball away at the Dutch 49 late in the game. Quarterback Dick Wood hit four consecutive passes and appeared to have a touchdown on a 11-yard run at the 1:27 mark, but the Dutch were called for clipping on the play and the drive died.

Wood hit on 10 of 15 passes in the second half for 117 yards. End Ross Lamb caught five passes for 70 yards and end Ron Israels pulled in four for 33 yards.

"We've got a darn good quarterback and Lamb can catch with the best of them," commented Holland coach Dan Porretta after watching his team slip to 1-7 with the non-conference setback. Porretta also said he didn't expect St. Joe's defense to be "that tough." He thought the key to the game for his team was not being able to get out of the hole in the first half.

Helping the St. Joe defensive cause were the three in-shutout of Kalamazoo Loy Norrix, which also led Muhlenkamp to note after Friday's game that the defense seems to go from "rags to riches."

Muhlenkamp started Mike Priebe at linebacker and Jim Lee at defensive end and thought the changes "gave us more quickness. We decided to move and play good football."

Holland had minus yardage in the first half and finished with just 59 yards rushing in 23 attempts as Jon Bell, Bubba LaBumard, Les Pullins and Dan McAdams did an excellent job on the forward wall with Priebe and Lee.

Holland never got past the St. Joe 40 until a fumble and an excellent second half passing game posed a scoring threat which failed in the final quarter.

Holland never got out of its own territory in the entire first quarter because of two punts which totaled only 51 yards. But St. Joe missed a golden scoring opportunity by fumbling the ball away on a missed exchange at the Dutch six.

St. Joe did put it all together in the second quarter, with the help of a 15-yard penalty against Holland, for a 6-0 halftime advantage.

The Bears took over after a Holland punt and moved 81 yards to pay dirt in 13 plays. Lincoln carried on seven of the plays for 35 yards and scored from three yards out but didn't account for the big plays.

The penalty against Holland was an unsportsman conduct call for disputing an official's call on a St. Joe three-yard pass completion. St. Joe would have been left with a third and five at its own 48 without the penalty.

Other big plays were a fourth down pass good for 15 yards from quarterback Mark Schene to tight end McAdams and Schene's 12-yard run to the Holland three Lakeshore's magic number is now one.

The Lancers now need only one more victory to wrap up the school's first undefeated season in 15 years of football competition.

Neil McLaughlin's forces chalked up their eighth straight win of the season Friday night by knocking off a spunky Cassopolis team 28-8 on the Lancers' turf.

Lakeshore now can prime for its season-ending battle next Friday against Lake Michigan Catholic at Dickinson Stadium.

The Lancers, who clinched the Blossomland conference title last Friday, weren't overly impressive Friday in completing a perfect (7-0) league schedule.

"We just didn't play quality football out there," offered McLaughlin. "We made a lot of mental mistakes and errors on offense which we haven't done all year. We just didn't get very good blocking from our offensive line."

"I guess we just had a let-down tonight and the Cassopolis kids played tough."

"We just have to play better football against Lake Michigan Catholic next week. An undefeated season should be incentive enough."

Cassopolis did a fine job of defending the Lancers' strong running attack and fullback Ken Bailey but couldn't stop some fine passing by quarterback Terry Lauer. Lauer completed only three passes but all were crucial and went for long yardage.

Lauer ended with three of six completions for 132 yards. Steve Caple snagged a 68-yard TD pass and also a 36-yarder which set up the final Lancer score while Charley Shafer's 28-yard catch led to Lakeshore's third six-pointer.

"Our passing game really bailed us out," noted McLaughlin. "Lauer and Caple did a fine job. I don't like to resort to the passing game but I didn't have any choice."

"We stopped them at their own game but those long passes really hurt us," said Ranger coach Tom Tatrow. "I'm really proud of the way our kids played, especially on defense."

Tatrow cited Preston Bennett, Chris Kelly, Terry Thomas and Charles Miller for their defensive work.

Lakeshore's defense, the toughest in the area, also came up with its typical stellar performance.

"I think our defense did a fairly good job," McLaughlin observed. "They scored twice on our offensive mistakes. George Schmidt and Charley Shafer were outstanding."

Lakeshore's two first-quarter TD's were all it really needed. With 6:46 left, Lauer dropped back and spotted Caple at the Ranger 40. Caple gathered in the pass and sprinted down the left sidelines into the zone. The play covered 68 yards. Lauer hit Brian Peterson with the PAT pass. Lakeshore stuck to the ground for its next TD on a 55-yard march in nine plays. Bailey, who was held to 79 yards in 24 carries for the night, went the final four yards.

Cassopolis got on the scoreboard with a safety early in the second period. Lauer couldn't find an open receiver and Miller threw him into the end zone for the two points.

Shafer halted two Ranger drives in the second quarter with interceptions while the Lancers' offense was hurt by bad field position.

Lakeshore, the seventh rated team in the latest Class B poll, put together a nifty drive of 68 yards after taking the second-half kickoff. The march ate up 7:44.

Key play in the drive was a fourth-down pass play from Lauer to Shafer. The 28-yard throw brought the ball down to the Cass 13. Halfback Ed Krager then bulled to paydirt from the four. Krager also added the PAT run.

The Lancers' Rick Farrow received a low snap from center on a punt attempt early in the final stanza. He fielded the ball but was forced out of bounds at his own four-yard line.

Cassopolis took over and halfback Larry Bontrager fumbled the ball into the end zone. But the Rangers' Jim Dishmon fell on the ball for the TD with 8:56 left.

The Lancers' final TD came on a two-yard bull by Bailey with 24 seconds remaining. The long gainer in the 62-yard journey was a 36-yard toss from Lauer to Caple which brought the ball to the three.

Caple ended with three catches for 104 yards and added 23 yards rushing.

Cass quarterback Charles Spaniolio connected on seven of 12 pass attempts for 64 yards in the first half but only went to the air once in the last 24 minutes. Bennett grabbed four pitches for 35 yards and Bontrager three for 29.

The Rangers, held to 39 yards on the ground, got 30 of the yards from halfback Dave Best.

Lakeshore, which has the area's longest winning streak at 10 games, now has defeated Cassopolis seven consecutive times.

Lakeshore seniors making their final home appearance were Farrow, Lauer, Mark Warner, Gary Zick, Bailey, Randy Brooks, Eric Ranney, Rob Eversole, Craig Nitz, Duane Peachey, Dave Seagren, Tom Bellavia, Jerry Fisher, Ken Siewert, Schmidt, Caple, Jeff Robbins and Mark Schuck.

Cassopolis finishes in sixth place in the Blossomland with a 2-5 mark.

Nip Niles In Final Minute

Chiefs Clinch Title Share

DOWAGIAC —Dowagiac clinched a share of the Big Six championship with a thrilling come-from-behind, last-minute 15-14 triumph over Niles here Friday night.

Dowagiac trailed 14-7 with less than a minute to go and with Niles owning the football. But defensive end Doug Mosier

Wilson with a 47-yard touchdown pass to make the score 14-13.

Dowagiac lined up for a one-point PAT kick, but it was a fake. The snap went directly to kicker Wilson and he ran around left end for the winning two-point conversion. He fumbled on the play but the officials ruled he had already crossed the goal line.

The wild ending marked Dowagiac's first victory over Niles in 10 years. There was a 7-7 tie in 1966.

Just last week the Chiefs got into the thick of the Big Six title chase by edging previously undefeated Portage Northern 7-0 by recovering a fumble in the end zone for the game's only touchdown.

After a scoreless first period Friday night, Niles took a 7-0 halftime edge on a one-yard TD run by Ken Hoese. Bill Small added the first of two PAT kicks. The touchdown came after Dowagiac lost the ball on a fumble at their own 40.

Coach Jeff Green's Chiefs finally tied the score at 7-7 in the final period on Bruce Fritz' 60-yard TD run around right end and Wilson's PAT boot.

That lead didn't last long though, as Hoese took the following kick off and raced 85 yards to pay dirt.

Dowagiac finished with 253 yards as compared to just 136 for Niles. The Vikings' Hoese led all rushers with 74 yards, while Fritz had 63 for Dowagiac. Russom also ended up with five completions in six attempts for 111 yards.

Steve Corbit and Pat Leats had pass interceptions for Dowagiac as the Chiefs hiked their league record to 4-1 and their overall mark to 6-2. Niles is now 2-2 in the league and 5-3 on the season.

'M' Skaters Win Opener

Big scores were the general rule as the 1972-73 Western Collegiate Hockey Association season opened Friday night with three league games and three nonconference contests.

In league play, Michigan outscored North Dakota 9-7, Colorado College downed Wisconsin 10-6 and Michigan Tech got past Minnesota-Duluth 6-4.

WCHA teams lost two of three nonleague games.

Minnesota was the lone winner, as Herb Brooks made his coaching debut with the Gophers in a 4-1 victory over Manitoba.

Notre Dame fell to Bowling Green 9-5, and Michigan State was nosed out by Ohio State 7-6.

Michigan's Frank Werner and North Dakota's Jim Cahoon each tallied two goals and an assist in the high-scoring contest.

Nostalgic Memories Surround 'Station 2'

BH South Side Fire Station Celebrates It's 25th Anniversary Sunday

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

It's Nov. 5, 1947. Harry S. Truman is President; Howard Hughes has just flown his multi-million dollar "Spruce Goose" for the first and only time; ground beef is 49-cents a pound and eggs go for 55-cents a dozen; the New York Yankees beat the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series; Johnny Lujack is starring for Notre Dame; and Benton Harbor has a new fire station.

While probably not as well remembered as some of the other events, the opening of the south side fire station remains an important event in the annals of Benton Harbor history.

It was 25 years ago on Nov. 5, that Station 2 officially opened at 372 East Empire avenue, and it has served Benton Harbor ever since except for a few months in 1971 when city austerity forced temporary closure.

Gone are the days of horse-drawn pumpers. But their memory lingers on.

An elderly man, taking his Poodle for an early morning stroll, points to an old-time pumper displayed outside the firehouse and reminisces, "I used to see these run by my house when I was a kid. And I'll tell you, they used to fly."

"They used to keep the horses in a barn behind the station," he continues, eyes aglow, "and when an alarm would come in, they'd release the horses, and they'd run straight to the pumper."

Gone too are the days of the Dalmatians and fire house mascots, but the remains of "Jiggs" are still at Station 2. "Jiggs", or more formally, "Capt. Jiggs", was a Boston Bulldog that was the station's mascot for many years. When he died, firefighters entombed him where he spent most of his life—at the station.

Sitting over a cup of steaming coffee on a fall morning, as the smells of frying potatoes and sizzling steaks waft in from the kitchen, a captain reminisces:

"Jiggs, now there was a smart dog. Up at Station 2 they had two phones, one for regular calls and the other for fire calls. The rings sounded almost the same, at least we couldn't tell the difference. But Jiggs could."

"When the phone would ring, we'd look at Jiggs. If he would just lie there, we knew it was the regular phone. But if it was the fire phone, he'd bolt for the door, and I've seen him knock men over when he hit the door."

There was also Pete, a Dalmatian. After the formal dedication of the station, when guests and firemen were leaning back after their meal, Pete jumped on the banquet table and proceeded to clean up the scraps from the ham and steak dinner.

And Cleo, another Dalmatian, who got too big for the Benton Harbor fire stations, and was "adopted" by a Chicago fire house.

"We haven't had dogs since the late '50s" says Fire Chief Harold Gaddie. "We've had a lot of offers, but we had to turn them down."

"It's just not fair to the dogs," explains another fireman. "They're with too many people on too many crews to behave for all the guys."

Firemen are storytellers, and one amusing story concerned a fireman sitting night watch.

"It was late at night, and all of a sudden he heard the door to the watch-room slam. He looked up, and there was a six-foot long snake."

"While he was yelling for help, the snake slithered back out the door, and wasn't seen again for awhile. Then one day, when the men were working underneath the fire trucks, a man looked up, and there was that same snake."

"Apparently he had got onto the truck somehow, and had made a number of runs with us."

The snake, however, wasn't kept as a mascot."

At Station 2's dedication, then Benton Harbor Mayor Leon Gideon, said: "Today, after delays and setbacks due to the war and material shortages, Benton Harbor has as fine a fire department and equipment as any city of comparable size in the U.S." And after 25 years, Mayor Gideon's statement still holds true.

How Much Is A Million?—Stewart Students Learning

BY DICK DERRICK
SJ City Editor

How much is a million? Mrs. Connie Hanna who teaches fourth grade at Stewart school, Stevensville, and her class of youngsters have tackled that project.

But they need help. Mrs. Hanna and her fourth graders hope to amass a million bottle caps.

Sitting on her desk is a small jar containing an estimated million grains of sand. Some time ago a crew of her students counted the pages of books in the library and got up to half million before running out of time.

But to really understand what a million is all about, Mrs. Hanna wanted something big enough to handle but small enough to fit into Stewart school. She hit on bottle caps.

So far in the first month of collecting her class has gathered 21,605. The total changes every day as Stewart school youngsters bring in more. Posters throughout the school urge pupils to bring in the caps to "Hanna's counting room."

Mrs. Hanna has appealed to drivers of firms that service outlets using beverages to save the caps. Anyone else with caps can call Mrs. Hanna and she will make arrangements to have them collected.

The 21,605 collected nearly fill one cardboard drum. Mrs. Hanna estimates it will be possible to get about 25,000 in such a container. At that rate it will take about 40 such drums to hold a million bottle caps.

The youngsters are collecting bottle caps—not ring tops from cans.

After the million bottle caps are duly recorded and the drums placed in an area where it is possible to see the whole million at one time, the youngsters in her class will be able to see what a million looks like. When the million caps have been collected and everyone who wants to see a million has been accommodated, then the caps will be recycled by Continental Can Co.

The count to a million came as the result of a friendly challenge by Mrs. Verna Wend, Baroda fifth grade teacher. It was Mrs. Wend who carefully counted out grains of sand onto a scale and then determined how many were needed to make an estimated million.

978,395 TO GO: Kathy Anstey and Steve McGrath check over the 21,605 bottle caps collected in a class project to collect a million. They are members of Mrs. Connie Hanna's fourth grade class at Stewart school, Stevensville. At left is "Willie" whose head fits on top of the barrel and bottle caps are deposited through his mouth. Gray's Donation Listed

Elisha Gray, II, retired Whirlpool board chairman, is among a dozen Michigan residents on a list of contributors who gave $1,000 or more to the Nixon campaign between Jan. 1, 1971, and March 9, 1972.

The list of Michigan residents was made public by the Committee for the Re-election of the President in revealing donors across the nation who contributed $5 million to the Nixon campaign before a federal law required the naming of campaign contributors.

Gray appears on the list as a $3,000 contributor. Others who contributed $3,000 were Benson Ford and HUD Secretary George Romney.

Benson Ford is the eldest of the three Ford brothers. Henry Ford, II, previously endorsed Nixon for another term while William Clary Ford came out for McGovern. There was no indication of what financial support the latter two gave the candidate of their choice.

Only one other western Michigan resident is on the list, Dan Gerber, Fremont food packer, $1,000. All other contributions were reported as $1,000.

Magazine Exhibitor Fined $10

A Baroda man was fined $10 Friday in Berrien Fifth District court for contributing to the delinquency of minors by showing magazines to children.

David T. Ott, 25, route 1, Linco road had pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) to the charge on Oct. 11. Judge Paul Pollard placed him on presentence investigation and imposed the fine yesterday.

Ott was accused of showing obscene magazines to children of Hollywood school in the Lakeshore district last May in a store where he was employed. The store is across the street from the elementary school, John Beers road,

BHHS Parking Lots Will Be Patrolled

Benton Harbor high school Principal Roderick Halstad announced that two uniformed parking lot attendants will start Monday to patrol areas outside the high school.

Halstad said the attendants are being assigned to control trespassing, vandalism and make the lots safer for students, teachers and visitors to the school.

The attendants will be on duty from 6:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

"This has become necessary because of the increased rate of unauthorized people being on school grounds, and we feel sure the addition of supervision in our parking areas will cut down on some of our problems. Some of the abuses we want to eliminate are racing motors, screeching tires and general 'hot rodding' on the lots. Because of space limitations, our parking lots are overcrowded and we must try to insure safety of students and property."

Buchanan Youth Injured

A Buchanan area youth, Robert Freeling, 17, was injured Friday afternoon, when a shotgun shell exploded in his home, Route 1, Freeling road.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said he received powder burns about the face and left arm and a laceration of the left hand. He was treated at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

Deputies reported that Freeling said he was loading a 12 gauge shotgun when the explosion occurred. Deputies said the explosion may have been caused by a faulty primer, or improper seating of a wad on the powder charge. Memorial hospital reported the accident at 3:45 p.m., after the youth arrived in a private car, deputies stated.

seems to be distorting any, and everything for which he stands. Then, of course, showering the opposition with only high praise, and much elaboration.

Aside from this—one more statement. The opposition feels the Watergate incident very trivial, with no comment, whatsoever, from the White House. However, when Senator McGovern speaks out the positive truth, and truth, no doubt, really hurts—they refer to it as a dirty campaign. Who then, may I ask, is doing the so-called dirty campaigning? We still have to adhere to black is not white and vice versa—regardless of your views.

LMC SPENDING
IS RECALLED

Editor,
So, Bernard C. Radde, the absent incumbent, purports "to use the tax dollar to the best advantage, always keeping the taxpayer in mind."

Were the "taxpayers in mind," when Bernard C. Radde, another board member, and two Lake Michigan College administrators went to Hawaii in March of 1970, at the taxpayer's expense? An editorial in your paper on March 21, 1970, provides some insight into what Radde means about using "the tax dollar to the best advantage." The editorial stated the following: "Their exposure to sun, surf, and edification in the 50th state will cost Berrien taxpayers $2,460

according to the preliminary figures furnished by the college on request of this newspaper." It continues saying, "this means that the $2,460 Pacific odyssey took all of the money 350 homeowners paid to LMC for one year."

On January 28, 1971, the newspaper ran another editorial which further elaborates Bernard C. Radde's position on expenditure of our tax dollars in regard to incredibly large pay raises to certain Lake Michigan College administrators. The editorial stated, "This is the same board, incidentally, that only this past autumn increased the Berrien County property tax that supports the college by a whopping 55 per cent."

This reader is thus convinced that the Board of Trustees of Lake Michigan College and the taxpayers of Berrien can no longer afford the callous disregard of our dollars by the likes of Bernard C. Radde and Emily Foster.

READER FAVORS
PROPOSALS C, D

Editor,

In a recent editorial denouncing Proposals C and D on the Nov. 7 ballot, you once again lash out at the one tax that would be most equitable—the graduated income tax—by trying to prove that the present flat rate income tax we now have in Michigan is really graduated! Talk about gobbledygook! Your low and middle-income readers especially should be warned not to fall for the propaganda of the affluent people who, of course, will pay a fairer share of the tax load under a graduated income tax than is now true under a flat rate tax or the sales tax.

Your repeated use of the expression "soak the rich" is designed to gain sympathy; and, unfortunately, you often succeed at this because the poor and not-so-rich do want to be fair but don't often seem to understand that it is they who are the ones being "soaked", rather than the rich. The low and middle-income people should begin to focus on the fact (as Senator McGovern has been saying for months) that it is they who carry the burden of taxation in this country and not the rich or highly affluent. The poor and middle-income people have allowed themselves to believe that their worst problem, tax-wise, is those on welfare; whereas, in reality, their worst problem has been the rich who have successfully evaded carrying their fair share of the tax burden.

You always seem to lament the fact that the affluent pay, or seem to pay, more taxes than the poor. Does your sense of fair play dictate that it should be otherwise? The graduated income tax is simply a better method of assuring that all of us (executives, workers, etc.) pay a fair share of the tax load during the years we are earning our money and, then as our earnings decline, our tax rate can decline also. Even when the legislature has power to raise tax rates, most representatives are reluctant to do so for fear of not being re-elected. All Proposal D does is give to the legislature and local governments the right to adopt graduated income taxes if they want to, and that will not be too easily accomplished I'm afraid if for no other reason than we know your newspaper will be out there trying to prevent it.

You also show your usual displeasure with teachers and their organizations, which you like to designate "Lansing-based" or "Detroit-based unions," in an attempt to discredit them by implying big-city bossism. Teachers may be union members but they are at the same time "voters," which means they have as much right and wisdom as editors and publishers of newspapers and big businessmen to determine how tax money should be spent. You also delight in having your readers believe that we lose "voter control" of money if we "take the money away from local school boards..." and give it to the legislature. You make it sound as though the legislature were not elected by the people!

Proposal C and D are not perfect. The present method of financing schools has been far from perfect for too many years already. It is easy to tell the legislature to come up with a better plan, but the fact is they didn't before and that is why we have these proposals before us. They will be a step in the right direction and certainly can be improved upon as we begin to live with them. They deserve to be approved on Nov. 7.

SCHMITZ CAMPAIGN
NEEDS MONEY

Editor,

It grieves me that John Schmitz, a great patriotic American, who is running for the Presidency is given the silent treatment and blackout. For proof of his greatness, he received from the National Economic Council, Inc., "Number One Congressman in the United States" by poll of 100,000 members, 1972—from the National Sons of the American Revolution the National Legislator's Award, 1971, for "outstanding dedication to the preservation of our American principles." —from the Americans for Constitutional Action the Distinguished Service Award in 1970—from the National Associated Businessmen their Bulldog of the Year Award, 1970, for his efforts as a "Watchdog of the Treasury"—from Fed. of American Citizens of German Descent in the USA Inc. their Outstanding Citizen Award for integrity and honor, 1972, and others.

And from the Police Officers Research Association of California "... outstanding assistance to law enforcement..." in 1968; and from the American Legion, 6th District, Department of California "Citation of Appreciation for Outstanding Service" to the Legion, 1969.

His record also shows that during the eight years of public office he consistently voted 100 per cent in favor of American principles and never wavered even though at times teams have worked on him in shifts to get him to break down but by the Grace of God he did not.

Then finally we as American citizens had the opportunity to see and hear John Schmitz on coast to coast TV. To me it was as if a pleasant clean breeze was blowing across the country. I pray that enough money will be forthcoming that we all will again have the opportunity to see him on TV Monday night.

DEMOCRATIC SECRETARY
FAVORS PROPOSAL D

Editor,

Proposal D on the November ballot would remove the ban on a graduated income tax in the Michigan constitution.

Many voters will ask: do we really need another tax? The answer is: we don't. But that is not what Proposal D is all about.

We already have an income tax in Michigan, but it is a flat-rate tax. Rich and poor alike pay the same rate—3.9 per cent at present—on all additional income. I pay it, you pay it, and Henry Ford II pays the same 3.9 per cent.

A graduated income tax would not be a new tax but a different—and fairer—way to tax income. Many groups in Michigan, including the Democratic Party, have urged that Michigan adopt a system of rates like those used in New York State. This way of taxing income would save money for any family of four earning less than $21,000 a year.

A "YES" vote for Proposal D is not a vote for new taxes. It is a vote for lower taxes for those low and middle income taxpayers who most need tax relief. And it is a vote for basing Michigan's tax system on the ability to pay.

TIME TO REROUTE
OUR THINKING

Editor,

If a woman doesn't want her newborn child, we do not have the right to put that child to death. If we give her the right to make her own decision as to whether her unborn child should be put to death, saying it is a personal matter and her personal choice, then we are just as guilty as she for condoning the murdering of that baby.

We have an opportunity on election day to change the law that would provide putting a child to death before it has even completed its fifth month of human growth. Is this any less a crime? The unborn child has not taken its first breath of air, but most body functions are taking place by the twentieth week of development. How can we say it is not a living being? If a woman provides the conditions for the creation of a new life, she should also be willing to provide for the development of that creation and not condemn the infant to death because it suits her purpose.

EDITOR'S
NOTE

Nine months in a normal lifetime is a very short time. We need to reroute our thinking to finding good workable alternatives to abortion. For years many unwanted babies have been adopted by couples who were capable of giving them the love and attention they needed. There are many prospective adoptive parents right now who are unable to adopt because of the shortage of babies. Surely a woman could more easily accept the idea that the child is in a loving home and will have a chance at life than to live the rest of her life knowing she has destroyed that life. Are there really so many women who could so easily overcome the emotional results of an abortion?

In an age of permissiveness, let us not come to the point where we allow and condone the murder of these helpless babies.

Mrs. David Quackenbush

SEES ABORTION AS

Editor,

I am writing in response to your article, "Readers Speak Out Against Abortion". After reading your article and other similar articles it has become very clear that there is a great misunderstanding about the abortion issue.

Abortion reform is not a moral issue and moral conscience should have nothing to do with deciding the legal rights of a woman regarding her life and her future. The only morals that should be concerned are those of the voters who should be morally guided to vote for what is right—legally.

I would also like to correct the hackneyed, oversimplified misconception that "in this day and age there is no excuse for a careful woman to conceive an unwanted child." That statement is completely false.

Most misunderstood are the facts that 1) no birth control device is guaranteed 100 per cent effective, and many women cannot use the most effective means because of a variety of medical reasons, and 2) it is not only the careless unwed mother who is seeking abortion reform.

Ironically many who seek abortion reform do so because they are concerned for life; a decent, happy, healthy life for themselves and their children. To make clear the issue I will highlight a few instances: The working wife of a student whose salary is the sole source of income and tuition. A baby would mean that the wife must quit work, the husband quit school and the couple would give up all hopes of a decent life for their children of the future. The newly expectant father who has just received a two year tour of duty overseas who will never see his first born as a small child, or his wife who fears that the child may never see his father at all. The woman who already has all the children she can comfortably care for, who gets progressively sicker with each pregnancy. Another baby would mean sorely neglecting the children that she already has and loves.

These women and their husbands have the constitutional right to decide for themselves what to do with their lives and none of us have the right to impose our moral convictions upon them. So long as we want to preserve our rights we can not under any circumstances infringe upon the rights of others.

Susan Filler
Stevensville,

IMMIGRATION AND
THE PILL

Editor,

We have been told in the past several years that our United States of America is over populated with automobiles (yes) not people.

In your October 25th edition there was a picture of 19 immigrants who took an oath to become American citizens and not long ago there were two more pictures with around 25 or more people in each one who took an oath, and our national report says there are thousands of immigrants coming to the United States every year from all over the world. Our elected officials talk one way then do another. It doesn't make sense the way they figure.

Also I read in your paper just lately where the State of Michigan was short 22,665 children in the 1972 school census (quite a shortage isn't it?). We also know from all reports that thousands of the women have been taking birth control pills and according to the school census figures these pills are doing a satisfactory job. (Don't you think?). But if this abortion law is approved by the voters on Nov. 7, these figures will more than triple as thousands of babies will be murdered, then the school census will really drop.

The sixty-four dollar question is are we going to have enough kindergarten children to keep the schools operating, because if we don't have children to start in Kindergarten the other grades will naturally go out of existence and you can bank on that.

Now you tax payers and all other registered persons who live in the Bangor School District No. 14, when you go to vote on this $3,625,000 school bonding proposal on November 7th, just ask yourself this question: Under these circumstances, do we really need such a monstrous outlay of schools? Then vote and save yourself some tax money.

Mail's moving faster. For a lot of reasons. But I'd say the reason behind it all is Zip Code. . .

Sherry Gladney, Postal Worker, Chicago, Ill.

How to mail a letter today when you want it delivered tomorrow.

Out of town.

Be sure to use Air Mail. And remember to include a Zip Code in the address.

Mail before 4:00 p.m. from any specially marked Air Mail box. Or by 5:00 p.m. at your Main Post Office.

You'll get next-day delivery to major cities within 600 miles almost all the time. And, second-day delivery anywhere in the country.

In your town.

Again, be sure to include a Zip Code in the address. Mail by the last pickup before 5:00 p.m. That's it.

You'll get next-day delivery in your town and the area around it, most every time you mail.

These Zip Code tips can help you.

If you don't know a Zip Code, just look in the handy Zip Code Section of your phone book. Or call your local Post Office.

Always put your Zip Code in your return address. So people can copy it down.

People really depend on the mail, and the mail depends on Zip Code. Un-Zipped letters can slow down all the mail. So put a Zip Code on everything you mail.

Daugherty Quits As MSU Coach

He Will Finish Season

Only 'Pressure'
Coming From
Ex-Supporters

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Duffy Daugherty, head football coach at Michigan State University for the past 19 years and a Michigan sports legend, has resigned effective the end of the season.

The rotund, genial pixie, long a favorite of players, fans and newsmen alike, called it quits after several seasons of declining fortunes and unrest among his former supporters. The Spartans were 2-4-1 so far this season.

Daugherty confirmed his resignation, originally to be announced following State's game with Purdue today, after a Lansing radio station broke the story Friday evening by quoting high university officials.

A MSU spokesman said no successor had been found and no one was under special consideration, while Daugherty, sporting a 104-64-4 record, said he would stay on with the university, although not in an athletic department role.

"I feel that Michigan State deserves better than it has been getting," Daugherty told newsmen attending his weekly session prior to home games. "I haven't been making it fun for the players lately."

"I told the boys that I didn't want them to go out and win one for old Duffy. I told the players that football should be fun, especially on Saturday. I told them 'I wanted you to have fun in practice. I'm sick and tired of yelling at you.'"

"My decision to resign is irrevocable. I told the squad (See back page, sec. 1, col. 7)

Blame Fruit Market, Landfill For Pests

Benton Men Turn 'Killers'

BY BRANDON BROWN
Staff Writer

Barney Hess and Loyd Hicks are neighboring Benton township small businessmen with an unenviable sideline —

killing rats.

They say they've knocked off scores of rats recently that they believe originate at the nearby Benton Harbor fruit market and Northwest Berrien County Sanitary landfill. Rats are looking for warm spots to hide from upcoming winter chill, they believe.

Hess, of 655 North Crystal avenue and owner of Barney's Bait & Tackle shop a few yards away at 1716 Red Arrow highway, Friday displayed a young rat caught in a cheese-baited trap on his enclosed front porch.

It was the fourth in six days, all in the same spot, he said. It's just a baby compared to the largest among some 50 to 60 that Hicks estimates he's trapped in the past four months around his home and barber shop at 1750 Red Arrow highway.

"Some of them I've got would make that look sick," he said of Hess' new capture. "Big around as my arm. Never saw rats so big."

Hicks has whipped up his own rat poison, horse feed laced with Drano, a commercial drain cleaner, and keeps an air rifle handy to pot rats on the run.

market and off the dump," he said.

Hess said rats began appearing around his home about a month ago. He thinks they originate at the sanitary landfill about a half-mile away.

"I've seen them," said Mrs. Hess. "They come from the dump."

Defense Rests Case

Purnell Narrates Uland Slaying

BY ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

The defense rested its case Friday in the murder trial of David Jordan Purnell after completion of testimony by the defendant in a tension-filled Berrien circuit courtroom.

"Non Partisan Harmony" tonite 8 p.m. St. Joseph High School 24th annual Barber Shop Show. Adv.

Unlike Purnell's first appearance on the stand, when the defendant appeared relatively calm in answering his attorney's questions, he visibly shook and cried at times and held his head in his hands and testified how he had killed Janet Uland.

Purnell, 25, was very tense Friday and could be heard breathing harder than normal. Several times he appeared to go into a trance-like state, answering questions as if he were King Ben, his great-grandfather.

The tension in the courtroom was so great, that at one point during his testimony Prosecutor Taylor asked for a short recess, but Defense Counsel S. Jack Keller, objected because "Even I don't want to go through this again." Judge William S. White ruled in favor of the defense and the testimony continued.

Sitting in a chair in the middle of the courtroom in front of the jury, with his attorney seated directly in front of him, Purnell recalled what happened the night Miss Uland was killed and the previous two days.

At the start of his testimony Friday, Purnell identified the cover of the book "King of the Harem Heaven" and the jury was allowed to examine it after it had been admitted into (See back page, sec. 1, col. 1)

Tricky SJ Proposal Merits A 'Yes' Vote

Every election, it seems, the people who write propositions for the ballot manage to come up with at least one back-handed description of the issue to be decided. This year, the honor of having the tricky proposition belongs to the City of St. Joseph. It's one of those deals where you have to vote "Yes" when you mean "No."

St. Joseph electors will vote Tuesday on this proposal:

"Shall the zoning ordinance and map of the City of St. Joseph, Michigan, be amended to change the following lots: U.S.-81-1; U.S.-81-2; U.S.-81-3; and U.S.-81-4, under option to Ben N. Teitel, from 'C-1' Multiple Dwelling District to 'F' Light Industrial District?"

If an elector opposes construction of apartments on the property, he has to vote "Yes." This despite the fact that the issue was forced onto the ballot by citizens opposed to the apartment construction project.

The property described in the petition, about four acres on Lakeshore Drive near the Heath plant, was zoned "F" Light Industrial until Aug. 14, 1972. At that time, despite citizen protest, the St. Joseph City Commission, rezoned the property to "C-A" Multiple Dwelling so that a South Haven developer, Ben Teitel, could erect a 116 small apartments on the site.

Led by former St. Joseph mayor Tom Sparks, a group of St. Joseph residents immediately filed a petition demanding an election to restore the property to "F" Light Industrial. Since their petitions complied with law, the City Commission had no alternative but to place the issue on the ballot—but in its own strange wording.

A "Yes" vote means that the voter does not want the apartments built; he or she would rather keep the property for commercial or light industrial use—something like the Imperial Printing or Heath Co. buildings, for example.

Developer Teitel freely admits he wants to build his apartments in St. Joseph because he regards it as a beautiful city and a good place to live. It is largely made up of single family dwellings, with a high percentage of homeownership. It has a relatively small population, keeps taxes lower than they otherwise would be.

These conditions tend to discourage overcrowding, noisy traffic and other factors which produce the deterioration that has befallen many other less fortunate Michigan cities.

South Havenite Teitel wants to expand his apartments in St. Joseph because the city is an environment where he can rent easily and profitably. But his proposed project is a reversal of the very guidelines that have kept the town attractive.

St. Joseph already has hundreds of apartments—and some of them are decidedly no asset to the city.

St. Joseph residents who want to retain the present character of their community should vote against the apartment expansion. And that means voting "Yes" on Tuesday's city rezoning proposal.

After All, He Couldn't Have Said 'Elephant'

We can't find it in our hearts to criticize Sen. George McGovern for whispering "Kiss my ass" to an airport heckler at Battle Creek Thursday. It was a quietly-spoken rebuke to a breed of cat that is a real pain in the anatomical portion mentioned by McGovern.

Besides, it's like the presidential candidate's national political director, Frank Mankiewicz, said. McGovern's remark was rather natural for a Democratic nominee. "After all," said Mankiewicz, "he can't say kiss my elephant."

McGovern drew guffaws later when he

Icecap Receding

The melting ice cap surrounding the North Pole is receiving increasing attention for signs of its effect on weather systems in other parts of the world. The reason for the change is not known, although increased volcanic activity in the Philippines has been offered as one theory.

Col. Bernt Balchen, an explorer and retired U.S. Air Force officer, says recent flights he has made over Labrador, Greenland, Norway, the Canadian Arctic and the polar sea have convinced him the polar cap is melting, perhaps faster than expected.

"We may have an open ocean in another 20 years," Col. Balchen said, "or in no more than 40 years."

Aside from its effects on weather phenomenon, the disappearance of the North polar cap would have important implications for shipping. Water transport of mineral deposits from the Far North would be possible for the first time, and oil tankers would be able to serve the Canadian and Alaskan oil fields.

HEAR TOWNSHIP PLAN ON WATER COST SPLIT

— 1 Year Ago —

Lincoln township trustees will caucus and then determine if they will meet with representatives of St. Joseph township on the complex problem of dividing water system costs.

Representatives of the two townships met last night to discuss the report written by a Michigan Civil engineering professor, Dr. Robert F. McCauley. The report written at the request of St. Joseph township, suggest that the 50-50 split of transmission line and pumping station costs be revised somewhat.

HE DOESN'T LIKE ANY OF THEM

Editor,
I would agree with the letter by Thomas Boylan. Why do we have to have syndicated columns by Hart, Means, and Biosatt? They all say the same thing — it's like little Echo, Sir Echo, and Mama Echo. In the interest of freedom of expression and freedom of the press why not have a column by some good liberal as some newspapers do — or if that's "impossible" why not some more comic strips or another Family Weekly that we waited so long for only to find it full of nothing but advertisements.

THEY'LL SEND TWO LETTERS NEXT TIME

Editor,
Dr. B. C. Radde states in his October 30 letter to the Editor that, "I was not asked and did not receive notice of the 'Speak Out' meetings in writing, by phone, or word of mouth."

EDITOR'S NOTE

Sorry, but several letters have had to be trimmed in order to give the greatest number of readers a chance for publication prior to Tuesday's election.

would like to make it clear, as a member of the student-faculty committee that planned the Candidate's Speak Out, that Dr. Radde was sent a letter of invitation. The letter was sent to Dr. Radde's residence, and has not been returned to us by the post office. The other incumbent Mrs. Foster, returned the enclosed card indicating that she would not attend. There was an article in your newspaper on Friday, Oct. 27 announcing the event and indicating that all the candidates had been asked to attend. Also, both Mrs. Foster and Dr. Radde attended a board meeting on the previous night where the Speak Out might have been discussed.

The lack of response to our invitation was taken by us as a refusal. Should the same situation occur again, the committee vows to send Dr. Radde two letters.

Convict Prevents Pig Theft

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Good guys are where you find them—such as at Southern Michigan prison's trusty farm here.

State officials revealed Friday an inmate was attacked by two young men this week when he prevented the theft of several small pigs from the trusty farm.

The youths were surprised by the man, Clayton Weitzel, during the nighttime incident and they threw a pitchfork at him, officials said.

Warden Charles Egeler said that Weitzel was slightly injured and was treated by a prison staff nurse. He said the two men, however, escaped, but without the pigs.

Doctor Tells How PW Wives Suffer

WASHINGTON (NEA) — We as a people have not done nearly enough to ease the terrible plight of the wives of the military men and civilians who are prisoners or missing in North Vietnam and elsewhere in Southeast Asia.

We read almost daily of their earnest attempts to secure mail from their husbands, to receive some word of prison conditions or to learn whether in fact their mates are living or dead.

But talk to medical men about the dreary, worried frustrating lives these women lead while they wait.

Doctors who have studied the problem report that even the most stable and mature such wife experiences severe emotional problems:

— She must make daily decisions on her own, but constantly has the feeling she will be held accountable to her husband, when he is released, for whatever happens to the children. Yet the absence of the man in the family almost inevitably has a deleterious effect on their youngsters. The doctors say both boys and girls require a father for satisfactory progress through stages of development.

— She has a continuous struggle with her self-esteem. Yet there are few acceptable ways for her to build up her own confidence.

— She suffers from boredom, with the same routine day in and day out and no end in sight. A woman alone is awkward socially at best, and almost any satisfactory social activity may burden her with a sense of guilt. (She is having a good time while her husband is going through hell in prison.)

— If her husband is missing in action, she is in even a rougher prison of her own. She has all the problems of a POW wife intensified by uncertainty over her loved-one's fate. She keeps harassing herself with these questions: Is her husband alive or dead? Will he ever return? Even if she is certain he is dead, there is considerable public pressure against her remarrying. There is always the chance, too, that if she does remarry, her missing husband may eventually turn up alive. These two pressures can destroy the chances that her remarriage will be successful. Yet she knows she is aging and lonely and cannot wait in this limbo for too long.

What is worst of all, perhaps, for the wife of a prisoner of war, is what is likely to happen emotionally when her husband does come home, the doctors say. Because of her worries and the impossible problems she now faces, she is likely to build up a sort of idealized dream about what life will be like when the family can all be together.

She may tend to believe all her difficulties will be resolved and that "everything will be perfect." Doctors say the life after reunion won't be perfect of course, human beings being human, and they worry that the reality (as contrasted with her dreams) will likely result in a tremendous emotional letdown.

The Elitism Of Intellectuals

Now and then you come upon a sentence or a phrase that causes a twinge of recognition, that crystallizes a half-formed perception. I happened to be shuffling through Philip Rahv's periodical, Modern Occasions (Spring, 1972), and my eye stopped at a remark in an interview with Elizabeth Hardwick, a prominent critic.

"But I have my doubts," observed Miss Hardwick, "that consumerism can and will abate voluntarily to any meaningful degree in our society."

It is the sort of statement that seems innocuous enough, but then produces a sort of intellectual doubletake. Miss Hardwick is the wife of poet Robert Lowell and a well-known writer in her own right. She is a frequent contributor to the New York Review of Books and is very much in harmony with fashionable feeling in an important segment of American intellectuals. Needless to say, she is for Sen. George McGovern. And she views the American "consumer" with his motorboat and his color TV and his house in the suburbs as more than slightly vulgar.

And yes, you see, she "doubts" that consumerism will abate "voluntarily" in our society.

She left the next step unstated. But if consumerism — that is, enjoying the material products of American society — is vulgar, nay, immoral and intolerable, must not consumerism "abate," well, "involuntarily"?

Miss Hardwick touched here, I think, upon a powerful if unavowed current of feeling among intellectuals. In important ways, they are puritans. They dislike "consumption" and they dispise the pleasures of the ordinary citizen.

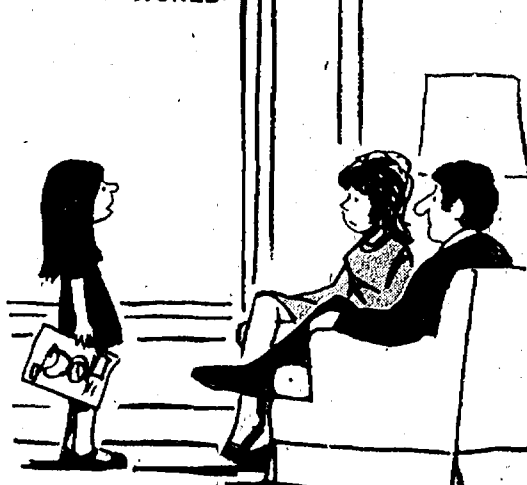

They therefore desire to expand greatly what John Kenneth Galbraith — a representative if urbane specimen — calls the Public Sector, which is virtuous, at the expense of the Private Sector, where all those "consumers" are wallowing in self-indulgence and sin. They much prefer the publicly owned BBC, with its Ibsen plays, bird-calls and lessons in Hungarian to commercial TV with gross spectacles involving the New York Giants or the Dallas Cowboys, interspersed with beer ads.

And though these puritans doubtless perceive public expenditure as good in its own right, one senses that they also perceive it as a salutary discipline for the herd. They like it because it does remove cash from the pocket of the despised and vulgar "consumer" sunk in his frightful suburb.

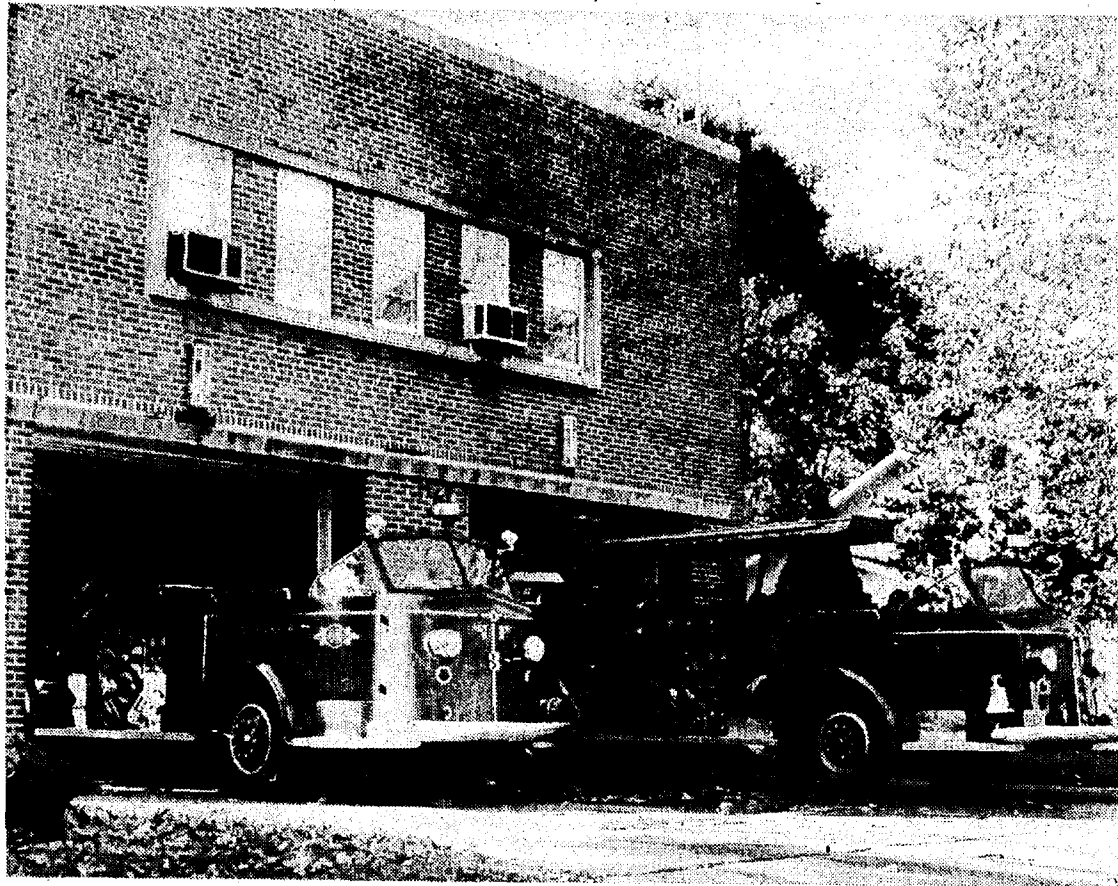

George McGovern's income redistribution schemes thus had a sort of moral charm for the elitist puritan. The point was not so much that they were, allegedly, designed to aid the poor — but that they would punish the middle class. Consumerism would be involuntarily abated.

The vein of contempt runs very deep. And I think that ordinary people sense it in Sen. McGovern and the people around him. There lingers in my mind another offhand remark. When McGovern sacked Tom Eagleton over the mental illness business, I recall one McGovern aide explaining that the Boss had been obliged to do so "because most of the American people still believe in witchcraft."

Nostalgic Memories Surround 'Station 2'

BH South Side Fire Station Celebrates It's 25th Anniversary Sunday

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

It's Nov. 5, 1947. Harry S. Truman is President; Howard Hughes has just flown his multi-million dollar "Spruce Goose" for the first and only time; ground beef is 49-cents a pound and eggs go for 55-cents a dozen; the New York Yankees beat the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series; Johnny Lujack is starring for Notre Dame; and Benton Harbor has a new fire station.

While probably not as well remembered as some of the other events, the opening of the south side fire station remains an important event in the annals of Benton Harbor history.

It was 25 years ago on Nov. 5 that Station 2 officially opened at 372 East Empire avenue, and it has served Benton Harbor ever since except for a few months in 1971 when city austerity forced temporary closure.

Gone are the days of horse-drawn pumper. But their memory lingers on.

An elderly man, taking his Poodle for an early morning stroll, points to an old-time pumper displayed outside the firehouse and reminisces, "I used to see these run by my house when I was a kid. And I'll tell you, they used to fly."

"They used to keep the horses in a barn behind the station," he continues, eyes aglow, "and when an alarm would come in, they'd release the horses, and they'd run straight to the pumper."

Gone too are the days of the Dalmatians and fire house mascots, but the remains of "Jiggs" are still at Station 2. "Jiggs", or more formally, "Capt. Jiggs", was a Boston Bulldog that was the station's mascot for many years. When he died, firefighters entombed him where he spent most of his life—at the station.

Sitting over a cup of steaming coffee on a fall morning, as the smells of frying potatoes and sizzling steaks waft in from the kitchen, a captain reminisces:

"Jiggs, now there was a smart dog. Up at Station 2 they had two phones, one for regular calls and the other for fire calls. The rings sounded almost the same, at least we couldn't tell the difference. But Jiggs could."

"When the phone would ring, we'd look at Jiggs. If he would just lie there, we knew it was the regular phone. But if it was the fire phone, he'd bolt for the door, and I've seen him knock men over when he hit the door."

There was also Pete, a Dalmatian. After the formal dedication of the station, when guests and firemen were leaning back after their meal, Pete jumped on the banquet table and proceeded to clean up the scraps from the ham and steak dinner.

And Cleo, another Dalmatian, who got too big for the Benton Harbor fire stations, and was "adopted" by a Chicago fire house.

"We haven't had dogs since the late '50s" says Fire Chief Harold Gaddie. "We've had a lot of offers, but we had to turn them down."

"It's just not fair to the dogs," explains another fireman. "They're with too many people on too many crews to behave for all the guys."

Firemen are storytellers, and one amusing story concerned a fireman sitting night watch.

"It was late at night, and all of a sudden he heard the door to the watch-room slam. He looked up, and there was a six-foot long snake."

"While he was yelling for help, the snake slithered back out the door, and wasn't seen again for awhile. Then one day, when the men were working underneath the fire trucks, a man looked up, and there was that same snake."

"Apparently he had got onto the truck somehow, and had made a number of runs with us."

The snake, however, wasn't kept as a mascot."

At Station 2's dedication, then Benton Harbor Mayor Leon Gideon, said: "Today, after delays and setbacks due to the war and material shortages, Benton Harbor has as fine a fire department and equipment as any city of comparable size in the U.S."

And after 25 years, Mayor Gideon's statement still holds true.

How Much Is A Million?—Stewart Students Learning

BY DICK DERRICK
SJ City Editor

How much is a million? Mrs. Connie Hanna who teaches fourth grade at Stewart school, Stevensville, and her class of youngsters have tackled that project.

But they need help. Mrs. Hanna and her fourth graders hope to amass a million bottle caps.

Sitting on her desk is a small jar containing an estimated million grains of sand. Some time ago a crew of her students counted the pages of books in the library and got up to half million before running out of time.

But to really understand what a million is all about, Mrs. Hanna wanted something big enough to handle but small enough to fit into Stewart school. She hit on bottle caps.

So far in the first month of collecting her class has gathered 21,605. The total changes every day as Stewart school youngsters bring in more. Posters throughout the school urge pupils to bring in the caps to "Hanna's counting room."

Mrs. Hanna has appealed to drivers of firms that service outlets using beverages to save the caps. Anyone else with caps can call Mrs. Hanna and she will make arrangements to have them collected.

The 21,605 collected nearly fill one cardboard drum. Mrs. Hanna estimates it will be possible to get about 25,000 in such a container. At that rate it will take about 40 such drums to hold a million bottle caps.

The youngsters are collecting bottle caps—not ring tops from cans.

After the million bottle caps are duly recorded and the drums placed in an area where it is possible to see the whole million at one time, the youngsters in her class will be able to see what a million looks like. When the million caps have been collected and everyone who wants to see a million has been accommodated, then the caps will be recycled by Continental Can Co.

The count to a million came as the result of a friendly challenge by Mrs. Verna Wend, Baroda fifth grade teacher. It was Mrs. Wend who carefully counted out grains of sand onto a scale and then determined how many were needed to make an estimated million.

978,395 TO GO: Kathy Anstey and Steve McGrath check over the 21,605 bottle caps collected in a class project to collect a million. They are members of Mrs. Connie Hanna's fourth grade class at Stewart school, Stevensville. At left is "Willie" whose head fits on top of the barrel and bottle caps are deposited through his mouth. Gray's Donation Listed

Elisha Gray, II, retired Whirlpool board chairman, is among a dozen Michigan residents on a list of contributors who gave $1,000 or more to the Nixon campaign between Jan. 1, 1971, and March 9, 1972.

The list of Michigan residents was made public by the Committee for the Re-election of the President in revealing donors across the nation who contributed $5 million to the Nixon campaign before a federal law required the naming of campaign contributors.

Gray appears on the list as a $3,000 contributor. Others who contributed $3,000 were Benson Ford and HUD Secretary George Romney.

Benson Ford is the eldest of the three Ford brothers. Henry Ford, II, previously endorsed Nixon for another term while William Clary Ford came out for McGovern. There was no indication of what financial support the latter two gave the candidate of their choice.

Only one other western Michigan resident is on the list, Dan Gerber, Fremont food packer, $1,000. All other contributions were reported as $1,000.

Magazine Exhibitor Fined $10

A Baroda man was fined $10 Friday in Berrien Fifth District court for contributing to the delinquency of minors by showing magazines to children.

David T. Ott, 25, route 1, Linco road had pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) to the charge on Oct. 11. Judge Paul Pollard placed him on presentence investigation and imposed the fine yesterday.

Ott was accused of showing obscene magazines to children of Hollywood school in the Lakeshore district last May in a store where he was employed. The store is across the street from the elementary school, John Beers road.

BHHS Parking Lots Will Be Patrolled

Benton Harbor high school Principal Roderick Halstad announced that two uniformed parking lot attendants will start Monday to patrol areas outside the high school.

Halstad said the attendants are being assigned to control trespassing, vandalism and make the lots safer for students, teachers and visitors to the school.

The attendants will be on duty from 6:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

"This has become necessary because of the increased rate of unauthorized people being on school grounds, and we feel sure the addition of supervision in our parking areas will cut down on some of our problems. Some of the abuses we want to eliminate are racing motors, screeching tires and general 'hot rodding' on the lots. Because of space limitations, our parking lots are overcrowded and we must try to insure safety of students and property."

Buchanan Youth Injured

A Buchanan area youth, Robert Freeling, 17, was injured Friday afternoon, when a shotgun shell exploded in his home, Route 1, Freeling road.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said he received powder burns about the face and left arm and a laceration of the left hand. He was treated at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

Deputies reported that Freeling said he was loading a 12 gauge shotgun when the explosion occurred. Deputies said the explosion may have been caused by a faulty primer, or improper seating of a wad on the powder charge. Memorial hospital reported the accident at 3:45 p.m., after the youth arrived in a private car, deputies stated.

Traverse City's Gilmore Catches Tigers Off Balance

BY JIM DeLAND
Sports Editor

TRAVERSE CITY — Benton Harbor's football team was caught off balance by the running of Craig Gilmore here Friday night.

Operating behind an unbalanced line, the senior speedster ran wild for 242 yards in just 14 carries to provide Traverse City with a 35-24 victory over the Tigers in a surprising scoring spectacular at Thrifty Field.

A bulk of Gilmore's yards came on three plays — touchdown runs of 71 and 69 yards and a 55-yard scamper that set up another score — and it was those three plays that broke the Tigers' back.

"We just couldn't stop the big plays," Benton Harbor coach Irv Sigler said succinctly. "We knew they were going to run that unbalanced line against us... they've been running it against Benton Harbor for 10 years."

"We practiced it, and we had people there... but we just couldn't stop it."

Bob Quick, the Trojans' other running back, got 87 yards and three more touchdowns in 15 carries and each of the two caught a conversion pass from quarterback Rory Brinkerhoff to account for all but one of Traverse City's points.

This was simply too much for the Tigers to handle despite a classy performance by the passing combination of quarterback Dave Popke and end Cero Reynolds that helped give Benton Harbor 16-15.

With fullback Bob Edelberg adding 89 yards rushing in 22 carries and halfback Lenny Thompson running for a touchdown and PAT, the Tigers actually ran off 60 plays to only 44 for Traverse City, but that was more than enough for the Trojans.

They took a 15-0 lead in the first half on a 12-yard run by Quick and a 71-yard romp by Gilmore, a 5-9, 160-pound senior.

Reynolds got the Tigers on the board by taking a slant pass over the middle and dashing 55 yards to score and Thompson put Benton Harbor ahead by scooting 16 yards on a pitchout off the triple option with just 22 seconds left in the first half.

Gilmore turned the third quarter into disaster for the Tigers by breaking loose twice on the same play.

With the Trojans lined up in an unbalanced line to the right, the speedy right halfback slanted through the left side and then cut back against the grain to dash down the right sideline.

On both occasions, it appeared the Tigers had failed to shift their defense to compensate for the unbalanced line and actually had too many players on the side Gilmore ran...and not enough to cover up when he cut back.

The first time he went 69 yards for a touchdown and the second time was hauled down at the BH 13, setting the stage for an eventual one-yard plunge by Quick, who also added the last TD on a five-yard run that followed a 31-yard pass from Brinkerhoff to Joe Wambold.

Reynolds came close to breaking loose again on a screen pass from Popke, but was tripped up at the TC 13 after a 50-yard gain and the Tigers were forced to give up the ball on downs.

Ron Coffey got it back by recovering a Trojan fumble on the 25-yard line, however, and then caught a 10-yard screen pass from Popke for the final touchdown of the game.

For the first time this season, Benton Harbor did not turn over the ball on a fumble or pass interception, and the Tigers' play execution in the second quarter was virtually perfect.

Despite this effort, the Tigers are left with a 1-6 record to take into their season finale against Grand Haven next Friday at Fildrup Field.

In Lake Michigan Athletic Conference play the Tigers remain winless at 0-4 while Traverse City is 4-1 and can share in the conference championship if Muskegon beats Muskegon Catholic next week.

DEFENSE STRIKES IT RICH

St. Joe Blanks Dutch

By JOHN VANDEN HEDE
Staff Sports Writer

A shuffled St. Joseph defense paced the Bears to a "rags to riches" 13-0 homecoming victory over Holland Friday night at Dickinson Stadium.

The St. Joe defense, which had allowed almost 22 points per game entering the contest, held Holland without a first down in the first half and came up with three pass interceptions.

Fullback Doug Lincoln carried the offensive load on the muddy field with both Bear touchdowns while gaining 127 yards in 27 carries.

"That feels good," commented Bear coach Ike Muhlentkamp after watching his team end a three-game losing streak with its second triumph of the season. "I was pleased with the whole defense and I thought the offense did a great job in the mud. We hit tonight."

St. Joe's other win was a 24-0

St. Joe got its other TD by taking the second half kick off and marching 54 yards in seven plays. Lincoln ran for one first down and halfback Mike Ryan another before Lincoln burst 37 yards up the middle for the touchdown. Priebe, who had his string of successful PAT kicks end at eight straight after the first TD, made the boot good the second time for the game's final point.

Holland's only threat came after St. Joe fumbled the ball away at the Dutch 49 late in the game. Quarterback Dick Wood hit four consecutive passes and appeared to have a touchdown on a 11-yard run at the 1:27 mark, but the Dutch were called for clipping on the play and the drive died.

Wood hit on 10 of 15 passes in the second half for 117 yards. End Ross Lamb caught five passes for 70 yards and end Ron Israels pulled in four for 33 yards.

"We've got a darn good quarterback and Lamb can catch with the best of them," commented Holland coach Dan Porretta after watching his team slip to 1-7 with the non-conference setback. Porretta also said he didn't expect St. Joe's defense to be "that tough." He thought the key to the game for his team was not being able to get out of the hole in the first half.

Helping the St. Joe defensive cause were the three in-

Magic Number One For Perfect Lancer Year

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

Lakeshore's magic number is now one.

The Lancers now need only one more victory to wrap up the school's first undefeated season in 15 years of football competition.

Neil McLaughlin's forces chalked up their eighth straight win of the season Friday night by knocking off a spunky Cassopolis team 28-8 on the Lancers' turf.

Lakeshore now can prime for its season-ending battle next Friday against Lake Michigan Catholic at Dickinson Stadium.

The Lancers, who clinched the Blossomland conference title last Friday, weren't overly impressive Friday in completing a perfect (7-0) league schedule.

"We just didn't play quality football out there," offered McLaughlin. "We made a lot of mental mistakes and errors on offense which we haven't done all year. We just didn't get very good blocking from our offensive line."

"I guess we just had a let-down tonight and the Cassopolis kids played tough. "We just have to play better football against Lake Michigan Catholic next week. An undefeated season should be incentive enough."

Cassopolis did a fine job of defending the Lancers' strong running attack and fullback Ken Bailey but couldn't stop some fine passing by quarterback Terry Lauer. Lauer completed only three passes but all were crucial and went for long yardage.

Lauer ended with three of six completions for 132 yards. Steve Caple snagged a 68-yard TD pass and also a 36-yarder which set up the final Lancer score while Charley Shafer's 28-yard catch led to Lakeshore's third six-pointer.

"Our passing game really bailed us out," noted McLaughlin. "Lauer and Caple did a fine job. I don't like to resort to the passing game but I didn't have any choice."

"We stopped them at their own game but those long passes really hurt us," said Ranger coach Tom Tatrow. "I'm really proud of the way our kids played, especially on defense."

Tatrow cited Preston Bennett, Chris Kelly, Terry Thomas and Charles Miller for their defensive work.

Lakeshore's defense, the toughest in the area, also came up with its typical stellar performance.

"I think our defense did a fairly good job," McLaughlin observed. "They scored twice on our offensive mistakes. George Schmidt and Charley Shafer were outstanding."

Lakeshore's two first-quarter TD's were all it really needed. With 6:46 left, Lauer

dropped back and spotted Caple at the Ranger 40. Caple gathered in the pass and sprinted down the left sidelines into the zone. The play covered 68 yards. Lauer hit Brian Peterson with the PAT pass. Lakeshore stuck to the ground for its next TD on a 55-yard march in nine plays. Bailey, who was held to 79 yards in 24 carries for the night, went the final four yards.

Cassopolis got on the scoreboard with a safety early in the second period. Lauer couldn't find an open receiver and Miller threw him into the end zone for the two points.

Shafer halted two Ranger drives in the second quarter with interceptions, while the Lancers' offense was hurt by bad field position.

Lakeshore, the seventh rated team in the latest Class B poll, put together a nifty drive of 68 yards after taking the second-half kickoff. The march ate up 7:44.

Key play in the drive was a fourth-down pass play from Lauer to Shafer. The 28-yard throw brought the ball down to the Cass 13. Halfback Ed Krager then bulled to paydirt from the four. Krager also added the PAT run.

The Lancers' Rick Farrow received a low snap from center on a punt attempt early in the final stanza. He fielded the ball but was forced out of bounds at his own four-yard line.

Cassopolis took over and halfback Larry Bontrager fumbled the ball into the end zone. But the Rangers' Jim Dishmon fell on the ball for the TD with 8:56 left.

The Lancers' final TD came on a two-yard bull by Bailey with 24 seconds remaining. The long gainer in the 62-yard journey was a 36-yard toss from Lauer to Caple which brought the ball to the three.

Caple ended with three catches for 104 yards and added 23 yards rushing.

Cass quarterback Charles Spaniol connected on seven of 12 pass attempts for 64 yards in the first half but only went to the air once in the last 24 minutes. Bennett grabbed four pitches for 35 yards and Bontrager three for 29.

The Rangers, held to 39 yards on the ground, got 30 of the yards from halfback Dave Best.

Lakeshore, which has the area's longest winning streak at 10 games, now has defeated Cassopolis seven consecutive times.

Lakeshore seniors making their final home appearance were Farrow, Lauer, Mark Warner, Gary Zick, Bailey, Randy Brooks, Eric Ranney, Rob Eversole, Craig Nitz, Duane Peachey, Dave Seagren, Tom Bellavia, Jerry Fisher, Ken Siewert, Schmidt, Caple, Jeff Robbins and Mark Schuck.

Cassopolis finishes in sixth place in the Blossomland with a 2-5 mark.

Chiefs Clinch Title Share

DOWAGIAC —Dowagiac clinched a share of the Big Six championship with a thrilling come-from-behind, last-minute 15-14 triumph over Niles here Friday night.

Dowagiac trailed 14-7 with less than a minute to go and with Niles owning the football. But defensive end Doug Mosier then recovered a Viking fumble with 49 seconds remaining and the Chiefs were on the way to their first championship since 1967.

On the very first play following the fumble, Chief sophomore quarterback John Russom hit split end Edgar Wilson with a 47-yard touchdown pass to make the score 14-13.

Dowagiac lined up for a one-point PAT kick, but it was a fake. The snap went directly to kicker Wilson and he ran around left end for the winning two-point conversion. He fumbled on the play but the officials ruled he had already crossed the goal line.

The wild ending marked Dowagiac's first victory over Niles in 10 years. There was a 7-7 tie in 1966.

Just last week the Chiefs got into the thick of the Big Six title chase by edging previously undefeated Portage Northern 7-0 by recovering a fumble in the end zone for the game's only touchdown.

After a scoreless first period Friday night, Niles took a 7-0 halftime edge on a one-yard TD run by Ken Hoese. Bill Small added the first of two PAT kicks. The touchdown came after Dowagiac lost the ball on a fumble at their own 40.

Coach Jeff Green's Chiefs finally tied the score at 7-7 in the final period on Bruce Fritz' 60-yard TD run around right end and Wilson's PAT boot.

That lead didn't last long though, as Hoese took the following kick off and raced 85 yards to pay dirt.

Dowagiac finished with 253 yards as compared to just 136 for Niles. The Vikings' Hoese led all rushers with 74 yards, while Fritz had 63 for Dowagiac. Russom also ended up with five completions in six attempts for 111 yards.

Steve Corbit and Pat Leats had pass interceptions for Dowagiac as the Chiefs hiked their league record to 4-1 and their overall mark to 6-2. Niles is now 2-2 in the league and 5-3 on the season.

WCHA teams lost two of three nonleague games.

Minnesota was the lone winner, as Herb Brooks made his coaching debut with the Gophers in a 4-1 victory over Manitoba.

Notre Dame fell to Bowling Green 9-5, and Michigan State was nosed out by Ohio State 7-6.

Michigan's Frank Werner and North Dakota's Jim Capahoon each tallied two goals and an assist in the high-scoring contest.

The opposition feels the Watergate incident very trivial, with no comment, whatsoever, from the White House. However, when Senator McGovern speaks out the positive truth, and truth, no doubt, really hurts—they refer to it as a dirty campaign. Who then, may I ask, is doing the so-called dirty campaigning? We still have to adhere to black is not white and vice versa—regardless of your views.

LMC SPENDING
IS RECALLED

Editor,
So, Bernard C. Radde, the absent incumbent, purports "to use the tax dollar to the best advantage, always keeping the taxpayer in mind."

Were the "taxpayers in mind," when Bernard C. Radde, another board member, and two Lake Michigan College administrators went to Hawaii in March of 1970, at the taxpayer's expense? An editorial in your paper on March 21, 1970, provides some insight into what Radde means about using "the tax dollar to the best advantage." The editorial stated the following: "Their exposure to sun, surf, and edification in the 50th state will cost Berrien taxpayers $2,400

according to the preliminary figures furnished by the college on request of this newspaper." It continues saying, "this means that the $2,400 Pacific odyssey took all of the money 350 homeowners paid to LMC for one year."

On January 28, 1971, the newspaper ran another editorial which further elaborates Bernard C. Radde's position on expenditure of our tax dollars in regard to incredibly large pay raises to certain Lake Michigan College administrators. The editorial stated, "This is the same board, incidentally, that only this past autumn increased the Berrien County property tax that supports the college by a whopping 55 per cent."

This reader is thus convinced that the Board of Trustees of Lake Michigan College and the taxpayers of Berrien can no longer afford the callous disregard of our dollars by the likes of Bernard C. Radde and Emily Foster.

READER FAVORS
PROPOSALS C, D

Editor,
In a recent editorial denouncing Proposals C and D on the Nov. 7 ballot, you once again lash out at the one tax that would be most equitable—the graduated income tax—by trying to prove that the present flat rate income tax we now have in Michigan is really graduated! Talk about gobbledygook! Your low and middle-income readers especially should be warned not to fall for the propaganda of the affluent people who, of course, will pay a fairer share of the tax load under a graduated income tax than is now true under a flat rate tax or the sales tax.

Your repeated use of the expression "soak the rich" is designed to gain sympathy; and, unfortunately, you often succeed at this because the poor and not-so-rich do want to be fair but don't often seem to understand that it is they who are the ones being "soaked", rather than the rich. The low and middle-income people should begin to focus on the fact (as Senator McGovern has been saying for months) that it is they who carry the burden of taxation in this country and not the rich or highly affluent. The poor and middle-income people have allowed themselves to believe that their worst problem, tax-wise, is those on welfare; whereas, in reality, their worst problem has been the rich who have successfully evaded carrying their fair share of the tax burden.

You always seem to lament the fact that the affluent pay, or seem to pay, more taxes than the poor. Does your sense of fair play dictate that it should be otherwise? The graduated income tax is simply a better method of assuring that all of us (executives, workers, etc.) pay a fair share of the tax load during the years we are earning our money and, then as our earnings decline, our tax rate can decline also. Even when the legislature has power to raise tax rates, most representatives are reluctant to do so for fear of not being re-elected. All Proposal D does is give to the legislature and local governments the right to adopt graduated income taxes if they want to, and that will not be too easily accomplished I'm afraid if for no other reason than we know your newspaper will be out there trying to prevent it.

You also show your usual displeasure with teachers and their organizations, which you like to designate "Lansing-based" or "Detroit-based unions," in an attempt to discredit them by implying big-city bossism. Teachers may be union members but they are at the same time "voters", which means they have as much right and wisdom as editors and publishers of newspapers and big businessmen to determine how tax money should be spent. You also delight in having your readers believe that we lose "voter control" of money if we "take the money away from local school boards..." and give it to the legislature. You make it sound as though the legislature were not elected by the people!

Proposal C and D are not perfect. The present method of financing schools has been far from perfect for too many years already. It is easy to tell the legislature to come up with a better plan, but the fact is they didn't before and that is why we have these proposals before us. They will be a step in the right direction and certainly can be improved upon as we begin to live with them. They deserve to be approved on Nov. 7.

SCHMITZ CAMPAIGN
NEEDS MONEY

Editor,
It grieves me that John Schmitz, a great patriotic American, who is running for the Presidency is given the silent treatment and blackout. For proof of his greatness, he received from the National Economic Council, Inc. "Number One Congressman in the United States" by poll of 100,000 members, 1972,—from the National Sons of the American Revolution the National Legislator's Award, 1971, for "outstanding dedication to the preservation of our American principles..." —from the Americans for Constitutional Action the Distinguished Service Award in 1970—from the National Associated Businessmen their Bulldog of the Year Award, 1970, for his efforts as a "Watchdog of the Treasury"—from Fed. of American Citizens of German Descent in the USA Inc. their Outstanding Citizen Award for integrity and honor, 1972, and others.

And from the Police Officers Research Association of California "... outstanding assistance to law enforcement..." 1968; and from the American Legion, 6th District, Department of California "Citation of Appreciation for Outstanding Service" to the Legion, 1969.

His record also shows that during the eight years of public office he consistently voted 100 per cent in favor of American principles and never wavered even though at times teams have worked on him in shifts to get him to break down but by the Grace of God he did not.

Then finally we as American citizens had the opportunity to see and hear John Schmitz on coast to coast TV. To me it was as if a pleasant clean breeze was blowing across the country. I pray that enough money will be forthcoming that we all will again have the opportunity to see him on TV Monday night.

DEMOCRATIC SECRETARY
FAVORS PROPOSAL D

Editor,
Proposal D on the November ballot would remove the ban on a graduated income tax in the Michigan constitution. Many voters will ask: do we really need another tax? The answer is: no! But that is not what Proposal D is all about.

We already have an income tax in Michigan, but it is a flat-rate tax. Rich and poor alike pay the same rate—3.9 per cent at present—on all additional income. I pay it, you pay it, and Henry Ford II pays the same 3.9 per cent.

A graduated income tax would not be a new tax but a different—and fairer—way to tax income. Many groups in Michigan, including the Democratic Party, have urged that Michigan adopt a system of rates like those used in New York State. This way of taxing income would save money for any family of four earning less than $21,000 a year.

A "YES" vote for Proposal D is not a vote for new taxes. It is a vote for lower taxes for those low and middle income taxpayers who most need tax relief. And it is a vote for basing Michigan's tax system on the ability to pay.

completed its fifth month of human growth. Is this any less a crime? The unborn child has not taken its first breath of air, but most body functions are taking place by the twentieth week of development. How can we say it is not a living being? If a woman provides the conditions for the creation of a new life, she should also be willing to provide for the development of that creation and not condemn the infant to death because it suits her purpose. Nine months in a normal lifetime is a very short time. We need to reroute our thinking to finding good workable alternatives to abortion. For years many unwanted babies have been adopted by couples who were capable of giving them the love and attention they needed. There are many prospective adoptive parents right now who are unable to adopt because of the shortage of babies. Surely a woman could more easily accept the idea that the child is in a loving home and will have a chance at life than to live the rest of her life knowing she has destroyed that life. Are there really so many women who could so easily overcome the emotional results of an abortion?

In an age of permissiveness, let us not come to the point where we allow and condone the murder of these helpless babies.

Editor,
I am writing in response to your article, "Readers Speak out Against Abortion." After reading your article and other similar articles it has become very clear that there is a great misunderstanding about the abortion issue.

Abortion reform is not a moral issue and moral conscience should have nothing to do with deciding the legal rights of a woman regarding her life and her future. The only morals that should be concerned are those of the voters who should be morally guided to vote for what is right—legally.

I would also like to correct the hackneyed, oversimplified misconception that "in this day and age there is no excuse for a careful woman to conceive an unwanted child." That statement is completely false.

Most misunderstanding are the facts that 1) no birth control device is guaranteed 100 per cent effective, and many women cannot use the most effective means because of a variety of medical reasons, and 2) it is not only the careless unwed mother who is seeking abortion reform.

Ironically many who seek abortion reform do so because they are concerned for life; a decent, happy, healthy life for themselves and their children. To make clear the issue I will highlight a few instances: The working wife of a student whose salary is the sole source of income and tuition. A baby would mean that the wife must quit work, the husband quit school and the couple would give up all hopes of a decent life for their children of the future. The newly expectant father who has just received a two year tour of duty overseas who will never see his first born as a small child, or his wife who fears that the child may never see his father at all. The woman who already has all the children she can comfortably care for, who gets progressively sicker with each pregnancy. Another baby would mean sorely neglecting the children that she already has and loves.

These women and their husbands have the constitutional right to decide for themselves what to do with their lives and none of us have the right to impose our moral convictions upon them. So long as we want to preserve our rights we can not under any circumstances infringe upon the rights of others.

IMMIGRATION AND
THE PILL

Editor,
We have been told in the past several years that our United States of America is over populated with automobiles (yes) not people.

In your October 25th edition there was a picture of 19 immigrants who took an oath to become American citizens and not long ago there were two more pictures with around 25 or more people in each one who took an oath, and our national report says there are thousands of immigrants coming to the United States every year from all over the world. Our elected officials talk one way then do another. It doesn't make sense the way they figure.

Also I read in your paper just lately where the State of Michigan was short 22,665 children in the 1972 school census (quite a shortage isn't it?). We also know from all reports that thousands of the women have been taking birth control pills and according to the school census figures these pills are doing a satisfactory job. (Don't you think?). But if this abortion law is approved by the voters on Nov. 7, these figures will more than triple as thousands of babies will be murdered, then the school census will really drop.

The sixty-four dollar question is are we going to have enough kindergarten children to keep the schools operating, because if we don't have children to start in Kindergarten the other grades will naturally go out of existence and you can bank on that.

Now you tax payers and all other registered persons who live in the Bangor School District No. 14, when you go to vote on this $3,625,000 school bonding proposal on November 7th, just ask yourself this question: Under these circumstances, do we really need such a monstrous outlay of schools? Then vote and save yourself some tax money.

Mail's moving faster. For a lot of reasons. But I'd say the reason behind it all is Zip Code. . . .
Sherry Gladney, Postal Worker, Chicago, Ill.

How to mail a letter today when you want it delivered tomorrow.

Out of town.

Be sure to use Air Mail. And remember to include a Zip Code in the address.

Mail before 4:00 p.m. from any specially marked Air Mail box. Or by 5:00 p.m. at your Main Post Office.

You'll get next-day delivery to major cities within 600 miles almost all the time. And, second-day delivery anywhere in the country.

In your town.

Again, be sure to include a Zip Code in the address. Mail by the last pickup before 5:00 p.m. That's it.

You'll get next-day delivery in your town and the area around it, most every time you mail.

These Zip Code tips can help you.

If you don't know a Zip Code, just look in the handy Zip Code Section of your phone book. Or call your local Post Office.

Always put your Zip Code in your return address. So people can copy it down.

People really depend on the mail, and the mail depends on Zip Code. Un-Zipped letters can slow down all the mail. So put a Zip Code on everything you mail.

Use Zip Code.
